Multidimensional Living

Multidimensional Living means living your life as a human fully, including all feelings and physical experiences such as pain and pleasure. It means not setting limits which would deprive yourself of any experiences which are normal and healthy. Attempting 'superhuman' disciplines and establishing unreasonable restrictions are not only unnecessary, but detrimental to fully experiencing the precious life you have been privileged to receive.

Being multidimensional also means to be accepting of others and their different lifestyles. It implies being continuously open to the acquisition of more and new knowledge with the intention of coming to fully understand the spiritual laws of creation and to live in accordance with them.

Most importantly, however, multidimensional living includes the ability to be present in the moment, having faith that good, and God's divine plan for all of creation will manifest in, around and through you best when you are living fully in each moment, with absolute knowledge that it will lead to the richest possible next present moment.
